

SPARTAN

Vol. IV

Castleton Teachers College, Castleton, Vt., December 11, 1961

No. 1

7 New Members Added To Castleton Faculty

With the student body of Castleton Teachers College surging toward the 500 mark, seven new faculty members have been added, along with a registered nurse on campus and a full time secretary for Dean Black.

Fillmore Earney

Fillmore Earney of East Lansing, Michigan is a new instructor in geography. He received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degree in social science from San Jose State College, San Jose, California. He is presently working on his Ph.D. from Michigan State University. Mr. Earney is married and has three children.

Donald Clayton

The new instructor of English composition is Donald Clayton of Tallahassee, Florida, and Granville, New York. He received his bachelor's degree in English from Albany State Teachers College and his master's at Florida State University.

Richard Diehl

Richard Diehl was a part time instructor in music last spring, at Castleton. This year he is teaching instrumental music and music methods. An Auburn, Maine, native, Mr. Diehl received a bachelor's degree in music education from Boston University and his master's degree from Indiana University. He also attended Bates College for two years.

Josephine Chapla

Miss Josephine Chapla of West Rutland fills a new post as instructor in physical education and women's activities. A graduate of Russell Sage College in Troy, New York, she has taught in secondary schools in New York and Vermont. She has spent additional time in graduate study at the University of Oslo, Norway.

Dr. Campbell

Dr. Blair Campbell is the new instructor in zoology. He received a D.V.M. degree from Cornell University. Dr. Campbell, head of the Fair Haven Animal Hospital, is married and has a little boy.

Lillian Creisler

Miss Lillian Creisler of San Francisco, California is teaching child psychology. She holds A.B., M.S.W. and an M.A. degree from the University of California and she has a life diploma. She has done much work and research in psychology and social work and is at present working as Director of the Rutland Guidance Center in Rutland.

Paul Lepley

A replacement for Peter Broaca, who left Castleton to fill the position of recreational director in Springfield, is Paul M. Lepley of Mifflintown, Pennsylvania. Mr. Lepley will be varsity baseball and junior varsity basketball coach in addition to teaching in the physical education department. He was graduated with a B.S. in Education from Michigan State University. He has completed requirements for his master's degree. He has a professional baseball background and coaching experience.

"MURDER IN THE CATHEDRAL"

Left to right: David Murray, Roger Clarino, Tom Connors.

Outlook Is Bright For 1961-1962 Hoop Season

With the return of six lettermen including last year's starting five, the prospects of a successful season for Coach Terry's Spartans appear very bright. Returning from last year's team are Frank Zakrzewski, Jim Yarter, Skip Pietryka, Ray Libuda, John Barth, and Chuck Memoe. Added to the roster are newcomers Brad Dunbar, Barry Aldinger, Dick Potter, Gunars Vilinskis, Bob Parro, and Dan Hudson.

The reserve strength added by new Spartans should prove to be a deciding factor in many games. It appears for the first time since Coach Terry has been at C.T.C. that he will be able to use two squads of almost equal ability and strength.

All in all, this should be one of C.T.C.'s best basketball teams ever. LET'S SUPPORT THEM!

Name	Height	Class	Hometown
Barry Aldinger	6'1"	Soph.	Jericho, Vt.
John Barth	5'11"	Sr.	Windsor, Vt.
Brad Dunbar	6'1"	Jr.	Springfield, Vt.
Dan Hudson	6'1"	Fr.	Plainfield, Vt.
Ray Libuda	5'11"	Fr.	Ludlow, Vt.
Chuck Memoe	5'9"	Jr.	Burlington, Vt.
Bob Parro	6'1"	Fr.	Burlington, Vt.
Skip Pietryka	6'0"	Jr.	West Rutland, Vt.
Dick Potter	5'10"	Jr.	South Glens Falls, N. Y.
Gunars Vilinskis	6'1"	Soph.	Hudson, N. Y.
Jim Yarter	6'0"	Jr.	Glens Falls, N. Y.
Frank Zakrzewski	6'1"	Sr.	West Rutland, Vt.

C. T. C. Players To Present "Murder In The Cathedral"

The C.T.C. Players will open their 1961 season by presenting "Murder In The Cathedral," a play in two acts by T. S. Eliot, on December 11th and 12th in Trinity Church in Rutland. The forceful play is the story of Thomas Becket's martyrdom in Canterbury, and should prove to be one of the most stirring plays the Castleton Players have presented.

Heading the cast is Mr. Saul Elkin who has taken on the huge task of learning the lines of Thomas Becket. His priests are David Murray, Roger Clarino, and Tom Connors. Bob Bush plays the messenger, and Bob Undeen, Jerry Lentini, Tom Ranney and Marshall Proudly are the knights. There is also a chorus of women of Canterbury, which resembles that of the old Greek chorus. Choristers are Marge Manning, Chris Bromley, Viola Roberts, Sally Briscoe, Pat Steeves, Pam Hayes, Elaine Cooper, and Lynn Williams. The tempters are Frank Heald, Jonathan Corbin, Norman Bartlett, and Peter Goodwin.

Editorial

MORAL REARMAMENT

Mary Louise Bruehl

As the semester draws to a close, the time for the turning in of term papers, et al, has arrived with all its trials and tribulations. The problems involved have been increased this year, as students, either lazy or incompetent, have turned to thievery in order to maintain, or, as is more common, to improve their status.

There has been a veritable rash of disappearing books, notebooks and collections during the last month. The question of cheating on examinations has already been editorialized by this paper, but the editors think the question of honesty deserves as much space as is necessary to emphasize the importance of the principle involved.

Castleton Teachers College is an institution dedicated to the preparation of men and women who will soon be concerned with the education of the future citizens of the world. It is impossible to comprehend the reconciliation between deed and supposed ideals. How can an individual who has by his attendance at a teacher's college, expressed an interest in the field of education, be capable of the actual theft of the written work of a fellow student? By what right does any "student" believe that such actions qualify him to continue in his present status as a teacher trainee?

It is the privilege and duty of a teacher to be a worthwhile example to his students, school and community. Surely, a person who would lower himself to the actions of a common sneak thief is not worthy of this trust.

It is imperative that either the Student Court or the Faculty Disciplinary Committee impose more adequate pressure upon the student population in regard to this issue. In the past, many such situations have been ignored by both groups to the detriment of the moral strength of the college community. It has now reached a point where the immorality involved is measured by the danger of detection. This attitude must be altered soon, or Castleton Teachers College will be releasing students into the field of education whose moral values are strangely inconsistent with the expressed ideals of the profession.

SPARTAN BOARD

Editor.....	Bill Foley
Layout Editor.....	Maryanne Hunter
Exchange Editor.....	Judy Yoxthimer
Circulation Editor.....	Steve Dow
Photography.....	Norm Bartlett
Art.....	Patti Keedy
Reporters.....	Paula Ames, Brad Dunbar, Dick Burke, Roberta Less, Frank Heald, Dick Singleton, Pat Steeves, Mary Lou Gallagher, Kuno Olson, Ernie Meuser, Lynn Shea, Art DeLorenzo
Polls.....	Sheila Poole
Fashions.....	Helena Ruby
Typists.....	Phyllis Erskine, Nancy Lawrence
Advisor.....	Miss Elizabeth Hale

BLACK OR WHITE?

by Felicia Brown

Have you ever considered refusing a job or changing to another desk at school simply because you were required to work with a dark-skinned individual or sit beside the only black person in the school room?

I did not realize that I was a member of the uncommitted group (whether to be for or against segregation), until I applied for a position at a well-known jewelry firm that employed Negroes.

I had never met, or even come into contact with, that part of the human race called Negroes. Attendants in the very small high school from which I graduated, did not include anyone from this race. Not because "they" were not allowed; there just weren't any in my home town.

Prejudice, according to Mr. Webster, is a "biased mind without just grounds or sufficient knowledge."

I was prejudiced. I refused the position offered me at the jewelry firm.

"Not enough money" was the reason I gave for my refusal. I could not, for some reason, admit that I did not approve of working side by side with a Negro.

When I was offered more money, I could do nothing but accept the position. However, I could not suppress the ominous dread of the inevitable meeting between this Negro and myself.

I met Jacob Barnes, the silver-polishing Negro for the company, quite by accident. While sitting in the lounge on my coffee break, I heard someone cry out in pain. Quickly, I put down my cup and hurried into the adjoining room. There "he" stood; his hand was bleeding where he had cut himself on the blade of the silver carving knife he had been polishing. I grabbed a white cloth and wound it around his hand. After the bleeding had stopped, I applied some medication and put a temporary bandage on the wound.

I picked up the cloth. I stood there for a moment, staring at the bright red stains soaked into the snowy-white material.

"It's the same color as yours," he said softly from behind me.

Slowly, I turned around and looked at him. "Yes—it is," I replied quietly.

Jacob Barnes, I learned, after sharing many coffee sessions together was a well-educated man. He had travelled throughout much of the United States, and now, in his reclining years, had turned to the trade of his father. Jacob Barnes was the kindest, most sincere person I have ever met.

My feelings against Negroes was a reflection of the stereotypes of many others, who were as poorly informed or as ignorant of facts as I had been. Color is only skin deep; and black or white, we are all human beings. Good

The Human Race

by Dick Singleton

The Human Race is considered to be superior to all others, yet how foolish it is.

A television program tells of a soldier's ethics as P.O.W. A news commentator relates an Indian tribe's segregation of another tribe.

Without color what a dull and drab world this would be. Yet why does one human discriminate against another human just because of a color difference or some other petty difference? "All men are created equal"; this is a statement in one of the most important papers of human history. Today, however, we hardly realize that that part of the Declaration of Independence exists.

As for war, what sense is there in it? War is to satisfy the selfish greed of men who see a way to gain material wealth.

The conquest of space seems to be man's present goal. A goal that is bound to bring new challenges and problems. How will they be faced and solved? Will they be solved in the same insane way which we have solved problems to date? Or will we finally become the Superior Race that we should be, without petty prejudices, minute distinctions, and a world in search of more wealth no matter how it is gotten, even if it means by war. In short man's greatest ATROCITY is towards his fellow man.

FASHION FADS

Helena Ruby

"Believe it or not," as the saying goes, we'll be seeing spots this coming Winter Season. We will be focusing our eyes on the new furry fabrics of Dalmatian, panther, pony and leopard. We can see them going to college in coats, hats, and so on.

Pastels for summer—pastels for winter, will be seen in gentle shades of yellow, pink, mint blue, and misty green. These new hues will be making their debut this season starring on many eye-catching combinations.

There's a big change in footwear this year. For years the standard shoe has been the pointed-toe, high narrow heel pump. They have changed all that for today's fashion. Instead, we will see a more gracious shoe—the lower heeled pump with either a narrow square toe or a gently tapered toe.

FOR KNITTERS ONLY:

Have you seen the new yarn that is currently being put out by Bernar? It is called tweednik. This yarn is tri-colored and gives a tweedy effect to all sweaters.

and bad springs up from the core of human relations, no matter what the surface of a person reveals.

Jacob Barnes feels no prejudice; why should I?

Leavenworth Hall OpenHouseDec.14

Mrs. Clary and the residents of Leavenworth Hall invite everyone to attend their Christmas Open House on Thursday, December 14th, 1961 at 8:00 p.m. The chairmen of the various committees are working to make it a great success. These include Decorations, Francine Rohm and Ellen Boutwell; Refreshments, Joan Handley and Sandra Moore; Invitations, Charmien Rousseau and Marlene Spaulding; Entertainment, Rita Ferrone and Sally Wagamon; Publicity, Pat Aguglia and Karen Psyzka; and Clean Up, Cynthia Smith and Sandra Smith. There will be a tour of the dormitory, Christmas Carols, dancing in the recreation room and refreshments.

CANDIDATES FOR THE 1961 HOMECOMING QUEEN

Left to right: Pam Fisher, Joan Pillsbury, Queen Pat Steeves, Cathy Gould, Louise Hurley and 1960 Homecoming Queen, Bonnie Thorburn.

CTC Junior Receives Sullivan Scholarship

Barbara Duchane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duchane of Wallingford, Vermont, has been awarded the 1961 Mary B. Sullivan scholarship. Barbara, a Senior, was notified recently by John Holden, the Commissioner of Education, that she had been chosen the recipient of the $200.00 scholarship. When interviewed, Barbara said that she was very pleased and surprised that she had received this award.

The Mary B. Sullivan scholarship is presented to one Senior student chosen from all the Colleges of Education in Vermont. The colleges participating are Johnson Teachers College, Lyndon

BARBARA DUCHANE

Teachers College, the University of Vermont College of Education and Castleton Teachers College. Every year one name is sent from each of the Teachers Colleges to the State Board of Education. Each candidate is personally interviewed by John Pascuiti who reports back to the State Board of Education.

The person chosen to receive the award is judged on high scholarship, personality, promise of success as a teacher, and interest in professional activities rather than need. The scholarship may be used for tuition, board, room, books, or any other school expense. The scholarship grant is in memory of the late Mary B. Sullivan, an associate professor of English and Education at the University of Vermont. She was also a former teacher at Castleton Teachers College.

is held on campus if it be a big weekend or an hour's entertainment. More cooperation and appreciation would give everyone a chance to enjoy themselves and perhaps bring more entertainments to C.T.C.

*The Spartan Staff Wishes All
Happy Holidays*

Club News

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club held its first meeting November 8th, at which a film was shown and nomination for officers were made. The second meeting was held November 15th, and officers were elected as follows: President—Chris Bromley, Vice President—Dick Beriau, Secretary-Treasurer—Phyllis Erskine. Meetings will be held every two weeks and arrangements will be made for a field trip.

SKI CLUB

The first meeting of the Ski Club was held November 20th, and plans for ski trips were discussed. The second meeting was held on November 29th, and officers were elected as follows: President—Bonnie Cooper, Vice President—Frank Heald, Secretary-Treasurer—Joanne Saucier.

At the next meeting Dr. Dundas will talk on the new ski area at Bird Mountain. Everyone is welcome to come and help make plans, so when the snow does settle they will be ready to move.

Mr. Fillmore Earney is the faculty advisor for the Ski Club.

Across The Campus

At the moment men's hair styling is high news and each of the off campus houses has its own stylist.

Leavenworth Hall is preoccupied with its open house, a forthcoming Limbo party and the "Twist."

Roberta Lass is recuperating from a recent auto accident.

Vacation is near so here's hoping that everyone has a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The 1961 Deer Hunting season brought success to several of the Castleton faculty. Those successful were Coach Terry and Mr. Gilbert.

Odds And Ends

TERRY'S HOUSE . . .

What seems to be so interesting about the Late Shows recently, boys? OH! Will those who have not bagged their deer please shave—deer season is over. Why should anyone be mad because a CRAZY 8's game is being played? . . . even if it is at one in the morning . . . And you guys stop picking on Vic—he can't help it if it takes him 20 minutes to comb his hair . . . before he goes to bed. Sorry, girls, only two eligible bachelors at Terry's house . . . probably the worst percentage of any house on campus. . . .

Homecoming 1961 Is Gala Weekend

The weekend of October 27 and 28 proved to be a very gala weekend for the students of C.T.C. and their dates. The weekend began with a track meet Friday afternoon and Friday night brought a "Beatnik" party in the old auditorium. The music for the beatnik party was provided by the Sig Ep jazz band of UVM and was very lively and gay. About 9:30 p.m. Pat Steeves, a sophomore, was named 1961 Homecoming Queen. Refreshments of pizza and coke were served and Dr. Patterson gave a monologue about a beatnik and the space age.

Saturday afternoon the Castleton Spartans won a soccer game against Plattsburgh State. At half time of the game the queen candidates were driven onto the soccer field and at this time Bonnie Thorburn, the 1960 Homecoming queen, placed the crown on Pat's head. Also, Dr. Patterson presented Pat with the plaque which will have her name engraved on it for holding this title. An open house at the Haapala House followed the game.

Saturday night the formal dance, "A Night in Vegas," was held in the gymnasium under a star-studded ceiling with a large crystal ball and in the center of roulette wheels and large cards. The Catamounts of UVM provided the music for this and a very enjoyable time was had by all who attended.

The committees for the weekend were under the direction of co-chairmen, Maryanne Hunter and Jerry Lentini. The few people who worked on these committees are to be commended for the fine job they did. Let's see more cooperation for the next event which

SOCCER TEAM

Row 1: Bob Reil, Sam Carrara, Cal Hastings, Bill Skitt and Hector Aponte.
 Row 2: Pete Messina, Skip Pietryka, Mark Mooney, Bob Knisley, Geoffrey Graham, Bill Bountress, John Barth.
 Row 3: Coach Terry, Lee Orvis, Dick Bird, Chuck Memoe, Don Orvis, Gunars Vilinskis, Gary Dodge, Al Blastos, John Witalec and Manager Don Goodell.

Castleton Cops Soccer Title; First Major NE Sports Trophy

Castleton's powerful soccer team built up momentum after beating Johnson and went on undefeated to tie Fitchburg for the Conference title. Fitchburg then lost their final game which put Castleton in sole possession of the New England State Teachers College trophy. This is the first time that Castleton has ever won a New England trophy in any major sport. The team had an 11-0 record.

A powerful front line contributed 56 goals while the stubborn defense yielded only 14 goals. Congratulations to the fine squad and their coach.

SOCCER ROSTER

Name	Position	Class
*Co-Captain Skip Pietryka	Halfback	Junior
Gunars Vilinskis	Halfback	Junior
Pete Messina	Halfback	Sophomore
Jim Brooks	Halfback	Sophomore
Bob Ploof	Halfback	Freshman
Bill Bountress	Fullback	Senior
Al Blastos	Fullback	Senior
Lee Orvis	Fullback	Freshman
Ted Barlow	Fullback	Freshman
Chuck Memoe	Fullback	Junior
Don Orvis	Goalie	Senior
Jeff Graham	Goalie	Freshman
John Barth	Center Forward	Senior
Bill Allard	Center Forward	Freshman
*Co-Captain Sam Carrara	Inside	Senior
Mark Mooney	Inside	Freshman
Dick Bird	Inside	Freshman
Hector Aponte	Inside	Freshman
Art DeLorenzo	Inside	Junior
Cal Hastings	Wing	Junior
Bill Skitt	Wing	Junior
Bob Knisley	Wing	Freshman
Bob Reil	Wing	Freshman
Gary Dodge	Wing	Sophomore
John Witalec	Wing	Sophomore

Coach—Richard Terry

Managers—Don Goodell

Ralph Coolidge

Student Trainer—Dick Singleton

INTRAMURALS

The 1961-1962 Intramural season has gotten underway under the capable direction of Dick Singleton. Ten teams have been formed this year and they have been divided into two leagues, A and B.

The teams comprising League A are as follows:

Ladd's & Keech's
 Terry's
 Morrill B
 Rutland
 Fabian's

The teams comprising League B are as follows:

Fair Haven
 Morrill A
 Corbin's, Phillip's & Campbell's
 Motel
 Haapala's

Before the Christmas vacation starts each team will have played four games. By the season's end, with the Championship slated for Winter Carnival, each team will have played 13 games, playing each team in its own division twice and the opposing league once.

At the season's end there will be a double elimination tournament with the top three teams in each division playing for the championship to be held during Winter Carnival.

So far there have been three games. Rutland won over Fair Haven 63-47. Top men on the Rutland team were John Nottle and Jack Burgess with 24 points apiece. Pacing the Fair Haven squad in defeat were Bill Wood with 17 and Bud Shaw with 13.

Morrill B downed Ladd's by a score of 66 to 57. Fran Elwell had 19 and Lee Orvis 17 for Morrill while Dale Spooner was high for Ladd's with 16 followed by Al Noyes with 15.

Corbin's won a forfeit game from Morrill A 2-0.

Siena Beats Castleton By 69-63 Count

CASTLETON — (Special) — The Castleton Teachers College Spartans bowed to a strong Siena quintet but not before they had given a good account of themselves in a game played Saturday night at Castleton. The final score of the game was 69-63.

The Spartans led by as much as six points going into the final half of play but a hot streak on the part of the Indians quickly overcame the Castleton lead.

Guards Jim Yarter and Dick Potter led the Spartans attack as they hit for 18 and 16 points respectively to keep the contest in doubt right to the end. Brad Dunbar was outstanding off the boards as he hauled down 14 rebounds.

CASTLETON

	G	F	P
Zakrzewsk rf	1	1	3
Aldinger	1	0	2
Libuda lf	2	0	4
Dunbar c	0	5	5
Pietryka	1	1	3
Barth rg	3	0	6
Memoe	2	2	6
Yarter lg	5	8	18
Potter	4	8	16
Totals	19	25	63

SIENA

	G	F	P
G. Smith rf	7	2	16
R. Smith	1	0	2
Ahern lf	1	1	3
Mannix c	5	5	15
Perry	1	0	2
Spencer rg	2	1	5
Dorp lg	5	4	14
Culman	5	2	12
Totals	27	15	69

J. V. BASKETBALL

Coach Paul Lepley is predicting a winning season this year for his Junior Spartans. Fielding a short squad but a fast and strong one is a difficult chore but the results thus far have been impressive. The leading five candidates for starting berths are Marty Fitzgerald of Burlington, Bill Allard of Proctor, Dale Spooner of Woodstock, Ray Mariani of Brattleboro, and Jim Burgess of Rutland. Filling out the squad are: Jack Burgess of Rutland, Alan Christi of South Barre, Allan Noyes of Essex Junction, Roger Woodruff and John Mahar of Poultney, Gary Richardson of St. Albans, Dick Singleton of Glens Falls, N. Y. and Art DeLorenzo of South Burlington.

Facing the Spartans in the opening tilt will be Siena College College Jayvees followed by the Vermont Agricultural Institute, Keene Teachers College Jayvees and the UVM Freshman team. These games will bring them up to the Christmas vacation.

SPARTAN

Vol. IV

Castleton Teachers College, Castleton, Vt., February 5, 1962

No. 2

CTC TO BECOME CSC

Carnival Theme--- It's A Mystery Will Be "State" College July 1

by Patti Keedy

Something that arouses everyone's interest is Winter Carnival. The theme of this year's Carnival is still a mystery, but needless to say people have been working diligently and plans are under way for the makings of the best Winter Carnival ever to be held at C.T.C. The dates for this year's Carnival are February 20-25.

Winter Carnival is the most important and biggest event Castleton has. It is a fun time when everyone can pitch in and help to make it a success. Heading the list are Andy Fortier and Sam Pagano, co-chairmen of the event. The committees are as follows:

Decorations: Mary Lou Gallagher,
Dick Waskiewicz
Set-up: Jim Aiken,
Dick Singleton
Publicity: Patti Keedy
Coronation: Donna Webster
Flowers: Judy Shafer
Invitations: Bill Foley
Refreshments: Pat Steeves,
Carloe Greenwood
Music: Pat Picchi

Winter Carnival will officially begin February 20, with Skit Night; presenting various skits in support of the candidates. On Thursday balloting will take place to find out who will reign.

On Wednesday the Spartan basketball team will travel to Johnson Teachers College. Our support will be an immense value to them.

February 22, the annual Ski Boot Banquet will be held, much fun, laughter and food will be enjoyed by all. Following the banquet, everyone will move to the steps of Woodruff Hall where the suspenseful part of the evening will be held. A torch light parade will wind its way up the hill to the stairs of Woodruff. The crown will be placed on His and Her Majesties.

Friday night we will enjoy a Jazz Concert and Pizza Party in the surroundings of a Ski Lodge. Saturday morning will be devoted to intramurals held in the gym. One class will be chosen as the victor, depending on the number of participants, and points won.

Saturday afternoon the judging of the sculpturing will take place. Each snow sculpture will be based on a theme, which will soon be announced. Accompanying the trophy, the winner will also receive $25. The contest is among all the living quarters on campus.

The climax of the weekend will be the gala Winter Carnival Ball, held in the gym. The gym will be beautifully decorated. The Grand March, led by the King and Queen and their Court, will be the highlight of the evening.

Sunday afternoon a Toboggan party in West Rutland sounds like fun for all out-door bugs, to be followed by a movie in the Rec. Room, "You Never Can Tell."

These events are being planned especially for everyone's enjoyment. We urge all to take advantage of everything that is being offered, and ask one and all to HELP make Winter Carnival '62 a successful one!!!

"Today's Teacher Tomorrow" Is Theme Of E.S.A. Conference

by Patti Keedy

C.T.C. will be represented by Skip Pietryka, Alex Blastos, Marlene Booth, Edward Fregosi, Roger Clarino and Sheila Cronin at the 37th conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, which has been scheduled for March 22, 23, and 24, 1962, at the Hotel New Yorker, New York City. The conference group will be composed primarily of representatives from about seventy colleges at the Eastern States. To be more specific, this group is an association of approximately seventy teacher preparatory institutions from ten Eastern States and the District of Columbia. Perhaps the most outstanding and distinguishing characteristic of this organization is the fact that it is student centered.

Representing the College will be Skip Pietryka, while the representative from the Senate will be Alex Blastos.

To Inaugurate Nurses' Training Course

On July 1 of this year CTC will become CSC (Castleton State College). The decision to omit the word teachers from the name was announced at the close of the meeting of the Trustees of Vermont State Colleges, Inc., January 11.

The announcement was in line with the decision of the Board on December 14 to inaugurate a nurses' training program on a limited scale at Castleton in September 1962, thus broadening the scope of curricula. It also follows the national trend to allow for the expansion of heretofore single-purpose college programs into multi-purpose programs to ease educational crowding.

These decisions are part of the preparations preliminary to taking over full responsibility and control of the three teachers colleges and the Vermont Agricultural and Technical Institute by Vermont State Colleges, Inc. on or before July 1, 1962 in accordance with legislation enacted by the 1961 Legislature.

The Board of Trustees consists of nine members appointed by the Governor for six years and eligible for re-appointment. In order to maintain a smooth sequence of continuity in performance the first appointments were made on a staggered basis which run two, four and six years. Members of the Board are Ward Bedford, chairman, four years; George VanSantvord, vice chairman, four years; Mary Jean Simpson, secretary, two years; Robert Durkee, treasurer, four years; Maurice Keenan, six years; Robert Corley, six years; Edward Reiman, six years; Frances Carpenter, two years; and Frank Stanton, two years.

Other officers provided for by the bill are a president of the corporation who will act as chancellor, an education officer and a financial officer, who will have the position of comptroller of the board. The first two positions are to remain vacant until suitable candidates are available, but the Trustees are ready to look for a well-qualified person for comptroller, the key position, as the comptroller will have charge of payroll, budget, purchasing and personnel.

(Continued on Page 2)

Representatives of the classes attending the conference will be:

Freshman Class, Sheila Cronin; Sophomore Class, Roger Clarino; Junior Class, Edward Fregosi and Senior Class, Marlene Booth.

Miss Elizabeth Hale, of the History Department, is the advisor for the students attending the conference. Miss Hale is also chairman of the Student Planning Committee, the position she also held for the past two years. Since the entire conference is held around the student discussions, this is an important position and an honor.

Skip Pietryka

Skip Pietryka—Junior, West Rutland, Vermont.

Skip has been outstanding for his three years at Castleton. He was Eastern States representative his sophomore year. He has been on Dean's (Continued on Page 3)

Editorial

Judging Others

Believe nothing that you hear, half of what you see and you'll make out all right. With this, you should believe the good half of what you see and keep the evil in your mind, don't blast it out and ruin someone's reputation. It can really hurt, especially when it's not true.

Do not set yourself as the judge of people around you. It is certainly not easy to judge others as they deserve. It is far more profitable for a person to look to himself and judge himself. If a person dislikes someone, he feels inclined to judge him more harshly. Men often judge their fellowman with prejudice. Their judgments often depend on their temperaments, moods, tastes or ambitions. You will in nearly all cases be right if you refuse to judge another person by the criticisms which you may hear about him. Many a man is condemned by the idle talk of people who have nothing else to occupy their minds.

People feel superior when they criticize others. They are apt to exaggerate the stories that they hear. If people show interest in their criticisms, they may be encouraged to continue their idle talk.

Remember, that you, too, may be the object of criticism some day. Speak now of the criticized person as you would want others to speak of you.

Volcanoes . . . A Gift Of Nature

by Nicholas Resetar

Volcanoes are one of nature's most feared phenomena; the tragedies that a few active cones have caused overshadow their value as a counter-action of erosion and sedimentation. The disasters date far into the past to as long ago as the Roman empire and the destruction of Pompeii. But, the history of volcanoes as an asset to man is undetermined. We can only imagine their value by our very own existence.

From the earliest of geological times and initial land formation the earth's surface has undergone extreme changes due to erosion and sedimentation. Erosion is the wearing away of elevated land by either wind or rain. Sedimentation is the depositing of eroded land to lower levels. These forces of nature if allowed to continue without an opposing action would long ago have buried the surface on which we now live beneath the oceans.

The surface still exists; therefore some forces must be present that function as a counter-action to erosion and sedimentation. Volcanoes are such a force. These conical structures erupt periodically on the earth's surface and below its oceans. Their eruptions on the surface build up the surrounding areas. Those below the oceans have given rise to many volcanic islands which are inhabited and provide fertile land for their inhabitants. Geologists are at present involved in a study to determine whether or not volcanic action is responsible for the apparent rise of land areas in various portions of the world.

In contrast to the belief of many that the reign of devastating terror caused by volcanoes can in no way be of benefit to men, I can simply say: nature has created a balance between natural forces, one to counteract the other; and without the counteraction of volcanoes to erosion and sedimentation man would suffer but a single disaster, the loss of the human race.

Man's Downfall

We are told in the Bible that temptation and sin all started when Eve tempted Adam with the apple and opened the doors of this earth to the devil. Eve led Adam astray and down the avenue of evil. It continued on earth down through the ages and continues today.

Women leading men astray has changed very little from the form Eve used on Adam, but the style has changed to fit the times. Today it is a form of seduction—they give sweet innocent smiles, flash their sparkly eyes and whisper sweet nothings in your ear—a style that traps you, yet leaves you feeling as if you were the superior creature and perfectly justified in what you were doing.

Women have had men in the palm of their hands since man evolved. They learn to trap them by the time they can talk and when they wear lipstick they can lead a man like a trainer leading a lion around the ring. Some of our most active trainers were Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, and Catherine of Russia; all exceptionally skilled at leading men into their downfall.

This form of conquest is ironical, due to the fact that they are, in the opinion of scientists, slower and not as strong as their prey. What, then, accounts for the ability of women to lead men? It is not that they are mentally superior because they are not. It is because they spend most of their physical strength and mental prowess trapping men and leading them to their inevitable downfall.

Yet, after they have succeeded in their conquest, they are not satisfied. They must have a new home, new car and all the modern conveniences of a new home. To pay for this and keep his leader happy and content he puts in long hours in the office. He arrives home to a T.V. dinner and hears that his wife lost track of the children while she was at the flower show. He then chases her halfway around the house to give her the evening kiss, but finds he can't kiss her because she just put on lipstick and can't have it smeared. That's really too bad that after spending $1.95 on a tube of lipstick, he can't even get to touch it.

When will all this come to an end? This is one world problem that can never be settled by the U.N. or a world war.

Nietzsche was right when he wrote, "God created woman. And boredom did indeed cease from that moment—but many other things ceased as well. Woman was God's second mistake."

Bennington Dance Group At Castleton

On January 22 the College sponsored a modern dance program by the Bennington College Dance group in the Auditorium.

The choreography, heightened by effective costuming embodied both variety and artistic skill. Especially noteworthy were the selections entitled "Baroque Wedding," "Nella Misericordia," and "Fathoms."

"Baroque Wedding" suggested the fears and anxieties of a bride within the framework of a festal marriage preparation. The style was derived from the paintings and figurines of the Baroque Period. The music was taken from Handel.

"Nella Misericordia," based on the Fifth Canto of Dante's "Inferno," covered two adulterous lovers who are doomed to float eternally through hell. The music urged parts of two pieces of Musique Concrete by Pierre Henry.

"Fathoms," a fantasy, suggested the delightful antics of sea creatures, and commented on the incorrigible weakness of a man trying to be what he is not. The music for this dance was by Cowell.

Members of the group are Judith Beattie, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, New York, and Patricia Malkin, from Westfield, New Jersey, Senior dance majors; Douats Capozzoli, from Jersey City, New Jersey, Senior dance fellowship student; Nancy Comstock, from East Norwalk, Connecticut; Harriet Fraad from New York, New York; Barbara Kirschner, from Brooklyn, New York; Patricia Malkin, from Westfield, New Jersey; Rosalind Person, from Douglaston, New York; Louise Reichlin, from Bordentown, New Jersey; all Junior Dance Majors; Adrienne Jaffe, from Hartsdale, New York, Junior French Literature major; and James Tyler, from Groton, New York, Junior dance fellowship student.

The Bennington College Dance group is now in its ninth biennial tour through northern United States, going as far west as Chicago.

CTC TO BECOME CSC

(Continued from Page 1)

The Board has also set up three committees, educational policy, building and finance. On the educational policy committee are Messrs. VanSantvord, Reiman and Miss Simpson who will be concerned with curriculum, retirement and tenure. The building committee, composed of Messrs. Durkee, Corley and Mrs. Carpenter, will consider long range plans for building use and expansion. The finance committee consisting of Messrs. Durkee, Keenan and Stanton, will handle budgets, income and enrollment.

SPARTAN BOARD

Editor	Bill Foley
Assistant Editor	Ernie Meuser
Layout Editor	Maryanne Hunter
Assistant Layout Editor	Dick Singleton
Exchange Editor	Judy Yoxtheimer
Circulation Editor	Steve Dow
Photography	Norm Bartlett
Art	Patti Keedy
Reporters	Paula Ames, Brad Dunfar, Dick Burke, Roberta Less, Frank Heald, Pat Steeves, Mary Lou Gallagher, Kuno Olson, Lynn Shea, Art DeLorenzo
Polls	Sheila Poole
Fashions	Helena Rube
Typists	Phyllis Erskine, Nancy Lawrence
Advisor	Miss Elizabeth Hale

Row 1: Ann Rixon, Gretchen Lillis, Judy Echo, Bonnie Cooper, Mary Kerr, Judy Shaefer and Susan Limoges.

Row 2: Lynn Shea, Janet Belisle, Joanne Socier, Joan Pillsbury, Carolyn Silsby, Nancy Mahoney, Helena Ruby, Nancy Lawrence, Jeannine Krause, Lynn Barnes, Marge Manning, Rita Ferrone and Kathy Dwire.

Row 3: Dick Bird, David Murray, Bill Foley, Roger Woodruff and Frank Heald.

The Older Novice Skier

by Jo Ann Saucier

The older novice skier has plenty of money to spend on equipment. He has many of the most expensive outfits. Head skis, stretch pants of all colors, quilted parkas, and sweaters to match are only a small portion of his ski outfit.

The skier may range between the ages of thirty and fifty. He has decided to take up skiing because it is the fad. He usually comes from the city and has no idea how difficult skiing can become.

This skier arrives at the ski area very early. Once at the top of the novice slope, he starts down very enthusiastically. He has no control of his skis; he just has no control of his skis; he just bombs down and falls at the bottom in order to stop. Why this type of skier does not usually break a leg is more than I know.

Skiing for him does not last very long. He becomes tired of skiing easily. He spends the remainder of the day sitting beside the fireplace in the ski lodge.

But hear ye! The novice skier enjoys himself even though he does not know how to ski and does not do much of it. I love to watch him as he is making his way down the slope, falling most of the way. He attempts to make a good impression with his expensive outfits and he emanates friendliness at the lodge. The slopes are many, the out-of-doors beckons; there is room for him.

Ski Club News

The Castleton Teachers College Ski Club took its first trip, Saturday, January 6, to High Pond in Brandon, Vermont. About 15 members of the club were present. Transportation for the trip was provided by the school. A special rate was given to the members traveling with the club.

At a meeting of the club, Bonnie Cooper, club president, urged all the club members to attend future functions. All trips will be posted at least a week in advance.

Fashion Fads

by Helena Ruby

The gaudiest sport in all winter sportland are the skiing slopes and this year, more crowded with skiers than ever. They are also more filled with color than ever!!! In fact, there is much brightness, pattern, and style on the snowy slopes as there is on the sands of San Juan. The traditional outfit of dark colored pants and neutral parka which used to set off the serious skiers from the brightly clad snow bunny have almost disappeared.

This year the lady ski enthusiast can choose from as many as thirty different colors and patterns for her stretch ski-pants. For example, they have such colors as shocking pink, canary yellow, salmon, plum, lavender, mad plaids, and gay checks. With her stretchies, she can wear anything from a fragile-looking, flowered silk shirt to a colorful off-beat jacket. And to top it all off you will find her wearing the maddest, bushiest fur hat she can find.

P.S. Good Luck Skiing.

CALENDAR OF COMING EVENTS

- Feb. 7 Lyndon
- 9 Movie—"Pillow Talk"
- 10 Albany College of Pharmacy
- 12 Keene
- 14 North Adams
- 16 New England
- 17 Plattsburg State Teachers College
- 21 Johnson Teachers College
- 23 Movie—"You Never Can Tell"
- 24 Bus into Rutland

INTRAMURAL

by Dick Singleton

Intramural basketball is well on the way to a highly successful season. Approximately 35 games have been played so far in the young season. Rutland is leading League A with a 4 and 1 record, while League B is headed by Haapala's undefeated powerhouse, 5 and 0.

The leading four teams are 1. Terry's with a 70.5 scoring average; 2. Corbin's 69.0 average; 3. Rutland with a 68.8 shooting percent and then Haapala's. It is interesting to note that the two second-place teams have a better scoring average than the first.

The leading scorers up to now are Jim Burgess with a 20.2 average and Alan Noyes, who has the high game output is in second place with a 19.8 average. The high was 39 points registered against Castleton. Following Al are Bob Ploof, John Notte, Jack Burgess and Roger Woodruff.

"TODAY'S TEACHER"

(Continued from Page 1)

List 1, 2, 3; Basketball 2, 3; Baseball 1, 2, 3; White Letter Winner in baseball his freshman year. Skip was Co-captain of the soccer team 2, 3. In his sophomore year he was President of his class and of Varsity Club. This year he holds the important position as A.A. Coordinator.

Alex Blastos

Alex Blastos—Senior, Keene, New Hampshire.

Alex has been very active in campus affairs. He has been a member of the Glee Club since entering college. He has taken part in several Castleton productions, making him a member of Delta Psi Omega. He has devoted much time to the planning of many dances and weekends. For his four years at Castleton, he was a member of the Soccer team. Last year Alex held the position of Attorney for the Student Associations, and this year he holds one of the most important positions at Castleton, that of Student Association President.

Marlene Booth

Marlene Booth—Senior, Vergennes, Vermont.

Marlene has participated in Glee Club, and Women's Sports since she has entered college. She is a member of S.N.E.A., has worked on Winter Carnival and Class entertainments. This year Marlene is Vice President of Ellis Hall.

Ed Fregosi

Ed Fregosi—Junior, Proctor, Vermont.

Ed was Class President his freshman year. He is a member of Student Senate, along with being very active in Men's Sports. Ed was elected to Alpha Lambda, an honor society, his sophomore year, also in his sophomore year he was Class Treasurer and was a member of Dorm Council. Ed has been active in Varsity Club for three years.

Roger Clarino

Roger Clarino—Sophomore, Proctor, Vermont.

Roger has been seen on the C.T.C. stage, making him an avid member of the Drama Club. He is a Member of Social Rec., and has helped immensely in making many of our college weekends a success.

Sheila Cronin

Sheila Cronin—Freshman, Richmond, Vermont.

Sheila lives at Leavenworth and has been working hard her first semester here. She is a member of Choral Union, has helped in Leavenworth's Open House, and worked on the Blood Drive held here at Castleton. Sheila will usually be seen at any sports event and takes an active part in Women's Sports.

SPARTANS 7-1 IN LEAGUE PLAY

by K. Olson

With victories over Gorham, 78-75; Johnson, 70-57; Keene, 91-51; Farmington, 78-69; Fitchburg, 84-74; Lyndon, 83-77; and Plymouth, 58-57; and a single loss to North Adams, 69-63; the Castleton Spartans now sport an impressive 7-1 record in New England Teachers College league play.

Castleton 78—Gorham 75

In their first game against Gorham, the Spartans were paced by Co-captains Frank Zakrzewski and John Barth with 20 and 13 points, respectively. Barry Aldinger, Ray Libuda and Skip Pietryka did a fine job rebounding against the taller Gorham Club.

Castleton 70—Johnson 57

In the Johnson game, the Spartans had a hard time finding the range until the second half. Ray Libuda led the Spartan attack with 20 big points. Brad Dunbar did a wonderful job on the boards pulling down 16 rebounds.

Castleton 91—Keene 51

The Spartans finally came into their own against Keene. Paced by freshman Dan Hudson with 23 points, Castleton opened up a quick lead which grew larger as the game progressed. Brad Dunbar played a terrific game against his former teammates, scoring 14 points and pulling down 18 big rebounds.

Castleton 78—Farmington 69

Playing their first league game away from home, the Spartans had a hard time up-ending a stubborn Farmington club. Castleton had four men in double figures but it was the fine floor play of John Barth and the rebounding of Brad Dunbar and Skip Pietryka that paced the Spartans.

Castleton 63—North Adams 69

In the opening league game following the vacation, the Spartans suffered their first loss in the N.E.T.C. to North Adams, 69-63. The North Adams squad, paced by Frank Zoltek, overtook an early second half lead by the Spartans from which they never recovered.

The Spartans had four men in double figures, John Barth, Barry Aldinger, Jim Yarter, and Dan Hudson who had 18, 14, 13, and 10 points, respectively.

Castleton 84—Fitchburg 74

The Castleton Spartans, down by as much as 19 points mid-way through the first half, came storming back to register an 84-74 league win over Fitchburg, Mass., State College.

An aggressive all-court press and some hot shooting by John Barth and Bob Parro got the Spartans back in the ball game. They ended half-time play with only a three-point deficit.

Besides the scoring of Barth and Parro, the Spartans took control of the Row 1: Marie Goodwin and Maureen McCormack.

Row 2: Mary Lou Gallagher, Pat Steeves, Louise Lull, Sandy Davenport and Louise Hurley.

boards. Brad Dunbar and Skip Pietryka did their share of the work in this important phase of the game.

Castleton 83—Lyndon 77

The Castleton Spartans had a last half scare but held on to register a 83-77 conference win over Lyndon.

For the Spartans it was the scoring efforts of Frank Zakrzewski, Jim Yarter, and Johnny Barth showing the way as the three totaled 58 points to pace the win.

Dan Hudson and Brad Dunbar were the top men on the boards for the Castleton club.

Castleton 58—Plymouth 57

Skip Pietryka pulled the Castleton Spartans from the brink of defeat by scoring the winning hoop with only six seconds remaining in a hectic finish, capping a 58-57 win over Plymouth (N. H.) State Teachers.

Pietryka and Brad Dunbar also were instrumental in holding down Plymouth's high scoring ace, Steve Bamfort, to 15 points. Dunbar was tops off the boards with 12 rebounds.

In the scoring department Jim Yarter paced the victors with a 18-point output. Dunbar added 11 markers for the Spartans.

Non-League

In non-league play the Spartans suffered three setbacks, losing to Siena, New England and Windham, before defeating a strong Oneonta quintet on January 13.

The Castleton Spartans jumped off to an early lead over Oneonta College and were never seriously threatened throughout the remainder of the contest as they posted a 74-62 win in a Saturday night game at Castleton.

For the Spartans it was Dan Hudson showing the way in the scoring column with a 28-point total. John Barth added 12 markers to give the Castleton club a good one-two punch. On the boards it was Hudson and Brad Dunbar pacing the team.

SPARTAN

Vol. IV

Castleton Teachers College, Castleton, Vt., March 9, 1962

No. 3

Congratulations Bobbie And John

Haapala's House Sculpture Victor

Congratulations to Haapala's House, winner of the 1962 Snow Sculpture Contest. They were presented with $25 prize at the "Fantasy In Frost" Ball, Saturday night. The title of their sculpture was "Twisting Bear."

The Winter Carnival committee wishes to express their sincere thanks to all the students who helped to make the contest a huge success.

29 New Students Semester Enrollees

The start of a new semester brought twenty-nine new students to Castleton. Fourteen of these are commuters. They include: freshmen—Edward Dolphin, Barbara Kaldy, Donald Keefe, Patricia Rousseau, Patrick Slattery, and David Southard. Sophomores—Richard Holden; and Special Classes—Angela Hinchey, Lois Kahn, Edward Layden, Hazel Looker, John Marsden, Lucille McMillan, and Howard Minthorn. The fifteen students living on campus are: freshmen—Ronald Butterfield, Michael Foley, Edmund Garron, Henry Leon, Peter Mercer, Walter Moses, Charles Neal, Simone Racine, Helene Sihler, and Steven Strong. Juniors—Carole Buswick, Mary Dietz, and Robert Iusi. Senior—Moiria Flanagan; and Special Classes—Barbara Flynn.

The Spartan staff hopes that these students have been and will be made welcome at C.T.C.

Royalty Candidates

Row 1: Marie Ross, Marie Goodwin, Judi Flory, Bobbie Dolan.
Row 2: Stu Farnham, Stan Pietryka, John Barth.

Snow Sculpture

Dick Painter, Vic Sgambato and Don Martin work on the snow sculpture at Terry's House.

Carnival Week Hailed "Success"

With the crowning of John Barth and Bobbie Dolan as King and Queen of the 1962 Castleton Teachers College Winter Carnival [by Alex Blastos and Pat Boucher, the ardor and excitement of the campaign activities reached a climax.

On Tuesday evening the Carnival got underway. At that time skits were presented by each of the seven candidates. They were written in support of the various King and Queen candidates.

Many students witnessed the Spartan basketball game with Johnson Teachers College in Johnson, Wednesday evening. Two school buses were provided for the game.

Thursday found the students at the polls voting for the candidates they thought best deserving of the title of King and Queen of the Carnival. A large number of students turned out for the Ski Boot Banquet which was held that evening. The seven candidates occupied the table of honor in the dining room along with last year's royalty. The meal was interrupted from time to time by the comical antics of court jesters, Jody Barrows and Jack Smiel, as they went through their hilarious routine.

Following the banquet, everyone adjourned to the great outdoors and waited in suspense for the Coronation ceremony. The procession was a stirring sight as it came up the walk. Music for the procession was played by Michael Foley. The representatives from each class, carrying a ski and ski pole, led the parade. The representatives were freshmen, Shelia Cronin and Dan Hudson; sophomores, Sue Limoges and Roger Clarino; juniors, Shelia Kehoe and Tom Sargeant; seniors, Teddi Harrington and Byron Fish. Next in line came the candidates with their lighted torch. Last, but certainly not least, came the King and Queen in majestic splendor. In a gaily appropriate atmosphere the coronation of Queen Bobbie Dolan and King John Barth were "solemnized" on the steps of Woodruff Hall. The jesters added

(Continued on page 2)

EditorialSCHOOL SPIRIT

The student body of Castleton Teachers College displayed an excellent example of their school spirit during the 1962 Winter Carnival.

As soon as the committees for the week-end were selected, students started planning to make this one of the best winter carnivals Castleton has ever had.

Many hours of preparation were spent on making the skits and posters for the candidates.

At the Johnson game on Wednesday night, many students from Castleton displayed, once again, their school spirit by supporting the Spartans at the game.

Enthusiasm and spirit prevailed all over campus on Thursday, the day of coronation.

The decorations for the dance were certainly an example of many hours of work and preparation on the part of many hard working students. And cleanup, so often a delayed process, was swiftly accomplished.

The Spartan staff wishes to congratulate all the students who helped to make the 1962 Winter Carnival a huge success.

Carnival Week Hailed "Success"

(Continued from Page 1)

a note of gaiety to the otherwise solemn occasion.

On Friday evening a Jazz Concert and Pizza Party was held in Woodruff with music by the Sigma Phi Epsilon Band.

Saturday the classes participated in intramurals, and in the afternoon the judging of the snow sculpturing was held. Saturday evening, a great time was had by all at the annual ball, "Fantasy In Frost." Music for the dance was provided by "The Vermonters." Highlighting the evening came when the King and Queen led the Grand March.

Sunday there was fun for all outdoor lovers at a Toboggan party which was held in West Rutland. Sunday evening a movie was shown in Woodruff Auditorium, "You Can Never Tell," which brought the 1962 Castleton Winter Carnival to a successful close.

SPARTAN BOARD

Editor	Bill Foley
Assistant Editor	Ernie Meuser
Layout Editor	Maryanne Hunter
Assistant Layout Editor	Dick Singleton
Exchange Editor	Frank Heald
Circulation Editor	Steve Dow
Photography	Norm Bartlett
Art	Patti Keedy
Reporters	Paula Ames, Brad Dunbar, Dick Burke, Roberta Less, Frank Heald, Pat Steeves, Mary Lou Gallagher, Kuno Olson, Lynn Shea, Art DeLorenzo
Polls	Pat Steeves
Fashions	Helena Ruby
Typists	Phyllis Erskine, Nancy Lawrence
Advisor	Miss Elizabeth Hale

Eastern States Representatives

Row 1: Sheila Cronin, Miss Elizabeth Hale, Marlene Booth.
Row 2: Stan Pietryka, Roger Clarino, Ed Fregosi.

24 Finish Degree Requirements

Congratulations to the students who completed their degree requirements at C.T.C. last semester. Fourteen of the group have already signed contracts and are teaching. They are Arthur Clough, who is teaching in Chester, Vermont; Bonnie Hoffeld, teaching in New Castle, Delaware; Richard Ingalls, Williamstown, Vermont; Marilyn Johnson Gates, Chittenden, Vermont; Jan Smith, Pownal Center, Vermont; Carolyn Taran Kinney, Key West, Florida; Lea Terrio, Glens Falls, New York; Stanley Tuller, Sharon, Vermont; Mary Jane Madigan, Norwich, Vermont; Alice Powers, Hartford, New York; John Sughrue, Center Rutland, Vermont; Vera Tornabene, Dorset, Vermont; Virginia Worden, Brattleboro, Vermont; and Joseph Gee, Bennington, Vermont.

Others who are looking for positions are Mary Lou Bruehl, Howard Saunders, Carolyn Bigelow, Jim Gallagher, Richard McNamara, Anne O'Connor, Tom Ranney, Janet Walker, John Wu, and June Chapin.

ACROSS THE CAMPUS

Congratulations and best wishes to Virginia Worden, Marilyn Daniels, Ardith McKirryher, Ann Bailey and Diane Danyew who received their diamonds over Christmas vacation, and also to Alice Miglis and Bob Bennett who were married.

FASHION FADS

by Helena Ruby

Spring Semester is the time of year to freshen up, to burst out, to flower forth. It blossoms the day you start fresh with a new look; a brass-dashed, braid-brightened, caped and collared crispness; an exciting coat; a suit that goes places. It bursts out in color, fresh-cut flax, baby blue, apricot, gray, navy and red.

Fashion twists for Spring Semester: new sweaters and sweaters in pastel shades, or look-alikes. They look sharp in the classroom or on a date.

Waistlines are on the move again. The direction: up, up, up! But this doesn't mean that the new high-rising suits are look-alikes. They come in many silhouettes, jackets cut long or cropped short, skirts flared or slim. In the pale glow of apricot wools, they say, "It's Spring."

Professor Aborn Is Slowly Recovering

Mr. Robert Aborn, assistant professor of music at C.T.C. is at his home at 212 Adams Street in Rutland recuperating after suffering from a herniated inter-vertebral disc. The injury occurred during the Christmas holiday while Mr. Aborn and his family were visiting in New York. This was a sudden onset and a very painful ordeal. Mr. Aborn was confined to his bed for several weeks in St. Luke's Hospital in New York City. He is coming along well and will probably be with us in the near future.

A Typical Fairy Tale

by Martha Beebe

Long ago in a far-away land there lived a lovely young maiden called Helena. She lived with her stepmother who was old and sometimes very cruel. The old stepmother made Helena work very hard in their little cottage at the edge of a deep forest.

Each day when the sun rose Helena was already hard at work with her chores. She fed the tired old horse, threw grain to the few chickens, and milked the lone cow. After these tasks were completed she prepared the stepmother's breakfast and carried it to her. Stepmother was much too lazy to help with the morning tasks, and too ungrateful to appreciate the work that Helena did.

Helena was as beautiful as a spring flower, and as gentle as a soft summer breeze. As she went about her work she hummed and whistled and even the birds stopped to listen to the brightness of her tune. Even the timid animals came to the edge of the forest to watch the lovely creature.

One day the stepmother called Helena to her and said:

"Go into the forest and gather as many berries and nuts as you can find, and don't come back until these baskets are filled."

The stepmother handed Helena two brown baskets and hurried her on her way.

As Helena entered the forest she caught sight of a tiny brown rabbit that scurried in front of her. Very softly she said:

"Do not be afraid, little rabbit, I will not harm you."

The rabbit stopped and Helena bent down and picked up the rabbit and placed him in one of her baskets. Now Helena was a lonely young girl and even the company of the rabbit cheered her. She sang as she searched for the nuts and berries. Her baskets were not even half filled when she realized that she was deep in the forest, and there were no more berries to be found. Helena's heart began to pound when she thought of her stepmother's wrath at the half-filled baskets. Helena sat down beside a rippling little brook and wondered what to do. The little rabbit peered up at her and wished that he could help her. Suddenly at the sound of a voice behind her the rabbit scurried away.

The voice said, "What is the matter, fair one? Are you lost?" The voice was that of a young hunter.

"No," replied Helena, "but stepmother will be very angry if these baskets are not filled. I dare not return home."

"Let me show you where there are many berries, enough to fill your baskets twofold," said the young hunter. With that he took Helena's hand and led her to the spot. She quickly filled her baskets, thanked the hunter, and hurried home.

When the stepmother eyed the full baskets she was amazed, for she did not believe that Helena could have filled them. Her conscience began to tug at her to thank Helena. She took Helena's hand and said, "Thank you, my child. You have done well. I will grant any wish for you."

Helena replied, "My only wish is that you let me go into the forest again tomorrow."

The stepmother was curious, but she did not question Helena, but gave her consent.

The next day Helena started into the forest humming a gay tune. When she came to the rippling brook she sat down. After a short time she heard the voice of the hunter. Helena turned, and standing there was the young man dressed as a prince. At Helena's strange questioning look he explained that he was a prince, and that he wished that she would become his princess. Helena wanted nothing more and she said,

"Come and let us receive Stepmother's blessing."

The stepmother, having a change of heart, gave her happy blessing, and the prince, and his lovely young princess lived happily ever after.

Student Teaching

Kuno Olson, a senior, helps his students during his nine-week Student-Teaching period in Montpelier, Vermont.

I Met Washington Ellis Hall Plans OpenHouseMar.18

by Donald Martin

I was walking along a country road near my home. It was a hot and sultry day. It had not rained for some time and the dust was seeping into my pores. I had just finished an afternoon of hunting and was returning home when I happened to glance to the side of the road. I was quite shocked to see a funny-looking man in an old-fashioned blue suit with long tails. He had white hair, I think, it was so dusty that I really couldn't tell. He was sitting on a clump of grass with his head in his hands; he was mumbling about something and looked very discouraged. I approached him and asked him if he lived in the area; he said he wasn't too sure exactly where he did live. He talked quite strangely, rather like an Englishman.

I asked him if I could help him and he said that I could. He told me he had lost a magic ring which a sorcerer had given him. While I was looking through the fairly tall grass which grows beside the road in the country looking for this ring, I decided to strike up a conversation. I asked him his name and that's as far as the conversation went. He told me his name was General George Washington. I almost figured him to be a mental case so I humored him along by continuing to look for this ring. To my surprise I found a small silver ring with silver inscriptions on it. I handed it to this unfortunate human. He went nearly out of his mind with joy. He then muttered some sort of chant and in a flash he was gone. And, upon my soul, that's how I met Washington.

On March 18th between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m., Ellis Hall will have an open house. All the rooms will be open for inspection and refreshments will be served in the main lounge. Receptionists will be Laura Carner, Peggy Heald, Theresa Aquadro, Pat Picchi, Barbara Bellinger, and Roberta Severy. Decorations Chairman is Lyn Barnes; Refreshments Chairman is Jane Reynolds; Flower Chairman is Viola Roberts; Publicity Chairman is Pat Keedy; Invitations Chairman is Marlene Booth; and Clean-Up Chairman is Donna Webster. All students and faculty are cordially invited to attend.

CTC Thespians Appear In "The Crucible"

"The Crucible," a two act play by Arthur Miller, was presented March 1st and 2nd at Green Mountain College.

The setting of the story takes place in Salem, Massachusetts at the close of the 17th century. It portrays the story of the Salem witch trials.

Six male members from the Castleton Players Club appeared in the production. Jonathan Corbin, a sophomore from Castleton played one of the lead roles, and did an outstanding job. Other members from Castleton were Norm Bartlett, Roger Clarino, Frank Heald, Jerry Lentini, and David Murray.

Saul Elkin, head of dramatics at both Castleton and Green Mountain College, achieved another success in his skillful direction.

Congratulations to everyone in the play and those behind the scenes. An excellent job was done by all!

Spartans Close Successful Hoop Season

Jayvee Team Posts Impressive Wins Over Strong Opponents

Castleton 63—Siena 48

The Castleton J.V.'s romped over the Siena J.V.'s 63 to 48 behind Dale Spooner's 15 points and many rebounds. A steady, hustling team proved too much for the larger opposition. Leading the scoring pace were Bill Allard with 16 and Marty Fitzgerald with 15.

Castleton 91—V.A.T.I. 51

Outclassed and severely beaten, the V.A.T.I. Varsity ran home after dropping a loss to the Castleton J.V.'s. Leading the scoring pace were Marty Fitzgerald with 18, Dale Spooner with 13 and Art DeLorenzo with 11. Outstanding on the boards were Bill Allard and Dale Spooner.

Castleton 95— Intramural All Stars 63

Class again showed again as the Castleton J.V.'s took complete charge and severely whipped a well-balanced All Star team. Leading in scoring was Bill Allard with 18, Marty Fitzgerald, Dale Spooner, and Art DeLorenzo all with 14 apiece.

U.V.M. 80—Castleton 68

Height proved to be a great advantage for the U.V.M. team as they handed the J.V.'s their first loss of the season. Ray Mariani, hustling the complete game, finished high with 16 points, while Dale Spooner with 15 and Jim Burgess with 10 followed.

Williams 74—Castleton 67

Again height was the deciding factor which caused Castleton's J.V.'s to lose its second game of the season. Although they hustled all the way the superior height could not be overcome. Leading the scoring pace was Dale Spooner with 22 points and Chuck Memoe with 16.

Castleton 84—Champlain 53

The Castleton J.V.'s came from two straight defeats to whip Champlain College in a completely one-sided tilt. Team effort was the order of the day as five Junior Spartans hit double digits. Leading the way was Dale Spooner with 19, Jim Burgess with 14, Marty Fitzgerald with 11, and Chuck Memoe and Ray Mariani with 10 apiece.

Castleton 111—V.A.T.I. 85

A weak defense enabled the Junior Spartans to hit their high mark of the

SKI NEWS

The C.T.C. Ski Club held a meeting on February 7th in Woodruff Auditorium. Bonnie Cooper, president, presided.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform the club members that the Club has been invited to ski at Killington Basin on Thursday and Friday afternoons. Transportation will be provided by the school.

A ski trip was decided upon for Saturday, February 17th. Many members of the Ski Club attended this outing at Mount Ascutney.

See you on the slopes!

season as they swamped the V.A.T.I. varsity 111 to 85. Leading in scoring was Chuck Memoe and Marty Fitzgerald with 28 points apiece. Dale Spooner with 26, Ray Mariani and Al Noyes with 10 apiece followed.

Vt. Academy 64—Castleton 67

After a game the night before the Junior Spartans could not muster enough energy to stop a much taller Vermont Academy team. This was the third loss of the season for Castleton as they could not cope with the outstanding height. Again it was Dale Spooner with 13 and Chuck Memoe with 10 who paced the team.

Castleton 88—Wilsons 86

Fighting all the way, the Junior Spartans pulled out a close game 88 to 86 as they took an overtime contest with Wilsons. Four players paced the team with double digits—Jim Burgess with 22, Chuck Memoe with 20, Art DeLorenzo with 19, and Dale Spooner with 13.

Castleton 73—West Rutland 62

Castleton's Junior Spartans took complete charge of the game as they handed the West Rutland semi-pro team their first loss of the season by a score of 73 to 62. Pacing the J.V.'s was Chuck Memoe with 21 and Jim Burgess with 19.

Spartans Bow to Montreal

George Williams College of Montreal posted a 65-58 basketball triumph over the Castleton Spartans here Saturday night.

Both teams had trouble hitting from the floor in an extremely low-scoring first half.

Dan Hudson, Dick Potter, and Skip Pietryka led the Spartans' offensive while Hudson and Pietryka were also tops off the boards.

Spartans Top Lyndon, 82-69

The Castleton Spartans broke up a close ball game in the last few minutes of play to register a 82-69 win over Lyndon Teachers College.

Jim Yarter and Dick Potter were the high point men for the Spartans with Brad Dunbar and Skip Pietryka controlling the boards.

Castleton Nips Albany

Castleton College eked out an overtime 85-81 win over Albany, N. Y., College of Pharmacy in a thriller, with Dick Potter providing the offensive punch in the extra period for four quick baskets. It was 77-77 at the end of regular play.

Dan Hudson was top scorer for the Spartans with 25 markers while Potter collected 12 points, eight of these in the overtime period. Brad Dunbar was once again top man off the boards for Castleton with 16 rebounds.

Castleton Posts Win

The Castleton College Spartans started out as if in a daze against Keene Teachers College and were down 43-26 at halftime before they came to life with a second half scoring surge to outlast the New Hampshire club, 82-71.

Forward Bob Parro came in off the bench to spark the Spartans' comeback as he hit for 37 points, about 30 of these coming in the second half. Dick Potter also chipped with 19 markers plus turning in a fine floor game. Centers Brad Dunbar and Bob Iusi took control of the boards for Castleton to help ignite the second half outburst.

The win upped the Spartans' conference record to 9-1 and to 11-5 on the season.

North Adams Easy Victor Over CTC

North Adams, Mass., State College registered its second win of the season over Castleton, 93-77, as the Spartans once again had their troubles catching fire in the early part of the game.

Castleton made one big attempt to pull it out of the fire with a second half surge, but the Bay State quintet came back to widen the gap as the game came to an end.

Bob Parro paced the Spartans with a 22-point effort.

NE College Wins, 79-75, Over Spartans

New England College handed a slumping Castleton State College squad a 79-65 setback as the Spartans just couldn't seem to break loose with one of their patented scoring splurges.

Castleton Gains Win

The Spartans got back on the winning path by halting Plattsburgh State Teachers College, 70-65, in a non-league encounter.

Dick Potter was the offensive hero of the evening for the Spartans as he ripped the nets for 31 points. John Barth added 10 for Castleton.

It was only the second loss suffered by Plattsburgh on the home floor.

The win upped Castleton's record to 10-9 on the year. The Spartans recently learned that they had to forfeit two games in league play because of the use of an ineligible player. Their loop ledger is now 7-4 instead of 9-2.

Johnson Tops Castleton In Hoop Thriller

Johnson State College shaded Castleton, 74-73.

It was a close ball game all the way, with the Spartans holding a narrow lead at halftime. The lead changed hands numerous times with the Johnson team finally gaining the upper hand.

Frank Zakrzewski with 22 points and Dan Hudson with 16 paced the Spartans' offensive attack. The loss dropped Castleton's league record to 7-5.

Spartans Drop Play-Off Game

A fast-breaking North Adams squad jumped out to an early lead and were never headed as Coach Dick Terry's Castleton Spartans went down to defeat, 108-93, in a play-off tilt.

The outstanding part of the game was from the charity stripe as North Adams racked up 50 out of 60 free throws to break the game wide open. The Spartans went into a full-court press midway through the final half and cut the margin to 11 points but then North Adams spurted again to wrap up the game.

Castleton had four men in double digits with John Barth leading the way with 28 points. Dick Potter (13), Frank Zakrzewski (10) and Marty Fitzgerald (12) rounded out the high scorers.

Despite not making the finals the Spartans have shown a real fine class of basketball and in the not too far future they should be on a par with the rest of the college teams in the state. Although they don't draw too many out-of-state hoop stars, the Castleton club is rich in local basketball talent and has been improving at a tremendous clip in the past few years.

SPARTAN

Vol. IV

Castleton Teachers College, Castleton, Vt., June 8, 1962

No. 4

Skitt Named S. A. President

William Skitt of the Class of 1963 has been elected President of the Student Association for the college year 1962-63. Bill comes from North Attleboro, Massachusetts. He served as class delegate to the Senate in 1960 and as dorm delegate from Leavenworth Hall in 1961 and was a member of C.S.C.'s famous Varsity Soccer Team.

The Class of 1963 have chosen as officers Charles Memoe, President; Marie Goodwin, Vice-President; Carol Holden, Secretary; Mary Ann Bania, Treasurer and Stanley Pietryka, Delegate to the Senate.

Chuck Memoe is from Burlington; a transfer from Lyndon State is an outstanding soccer and baseball player. Marie Goodwin, Hubbardton; has served as class officer, cheerleader, representative to Eastern States Conference and Secretary of the S. A. Carol Holden, Brandon, who transferred from U.V.M. has been active in Ellis Hall activities. Mary Ann Bania, Center Rutland, has been a hard-working committee member. "Skip" Pietryka has been class president, Coordinator of the Athletic Association, class representative and college delegate of the Eastern States Association.

The Class of 1965 re-elected their present officers for another year, an unprecedented happening at the College. President is Don Martin, Vice-President is Paul Corologos, Secretary-Treasurer is Bucky Knisley; Delegate to the Senate is Mark Mooney.

Don Martin, Winooski, is active in intramurals. Paul Corologos, Barre, was baseball manager. Bucky Knisley, Chester, played soccer and baseball as well as intramurals. Mark Mooney, Pittsford, also played soccer, baseball and intramurals.

Ellis Hall officers for 1962-63 are Judy Shafer, Delanson, N. Y., President; Alberta Severy, Brandon, Vice-President; Sandy Snow, Southbridge, Mass., Secretary and Pam Fisher, Barre, Treasurer.

Other Student Association officers elected were: Vice President, Ernest Meuser; Secretary, Marie Goodwin; and Treasurer, Ken Perrotte. Dick Singleton was named as Court Judge.

Roger Clarino was named Chairman of the Social and Recreational Council; and Stanley Pietryka will head the Athletic Association.

Commencement 1962

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE

The Baccalaureate Service was held on Sunday, June 3, at 8:00 p.m. in Woodruff Hall. The address was delivered by Rev. Raymond Johnson, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Rutland, Vermont. The invocation was given by Rev. Robert W. Thurston, pastor of the Baptist Church in Keeseville, N. Y.

CANDLE LIGHTING SERVICE

The Candle Lighting Service was held at 9:30 p.m., Sunday, June 3 in Woodruff Hall. This ceremony, conducted by Delta Psi Omega, represents the intellectual light which has been gained through the four years of study at CSC, and which has prepared the student for the teaching profession.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

The Commencement Exercises will be held on Sunday, June 10, 1962, at 3:00 p.m. in the Auditorium-Gymnasium. The address will be delivered by Dr. Thomas B. Ragle, President of Marlboro College. A reception for faculty, graduates, and guests will be held following the Commencement Exercises.

ALUMNI DAY

Alumni Day will be held on Saturday, June 9, 1962, and will commence with registration at 10:30 a.m. in the lobby of Leavenworth Hall. The Alumni luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. in the College Dining Room. The Senior Class will be the guests of the Alumni at the luncheon.

A meeting of the Alumni will be held at 1:30 p.m. in Woodruff Auditorium. Music will be rendered by the CSC Men's Octet, followed by a dramatic reading by Mr. Saul Elkin of the faculty. A review of the year will be given by President Richard J. Dundas, III. The granting of attendance cups and certificates will be given by Dean Florence A. Black. The business meeting will be conducted by Grace Williams Matte.

The officers of the Alumni are:

President—Grace Williams Matte
Vice-President—Ruth Scofield Best.
Secretary—Helen S. Hall.

Treasurer—George W. Young.

Custodian of the Abigail Leonard Student Loan Fund—Florence Sweeney Reil.

Auditor—Charles W. Wright.

PRESIDENT'S ASSEMBLY

The President's Assembly will be held on Friday, June 8, at 10:00 a.m. in Woodruff Hall. The incoming Student Association President, William Skitt, and the outgoing President, Alexander Blastos, will each deliver a speech, followed by a talk by President Richard Dundas, III. The following awards will be presented.

Alpha Lambda (Sophomore Honor Society)

Omicron Sigma (Senior Honor Society)

Good Citizenship Award

Senate Awards

Freshman Week

Plans for September Freshmen Week, 1962 are underway. Co-chairmen are Cathi Dwire and Paul Wasklewicz. Other members of the committee are Nancy Mahoney, Judy Shafer, Donna Hayes, Grace Dennehey, Pat Steves, Sally Briscoe, Mary Lou Gallagher, Kenny Perrotte, Paul Corologos, Jim Burgess, Dick Berieau, Dick Singleton, Mike Foley and faculty advisor, Mr. James Gilbert.

The committee plans to set up an interesting program designed to introduce the incoming freshmen to college community life.

Orientation Week will open on September 9, and continue until the 14th, the official opening of fall classes. This year's incoming group will be the largest to enter Castleton and the first official class of Castleton State College. The group will include 150 freshmen, 30 nursing students and 20 transfer students.

Spartans N.E. Ball Champs

Successful Sports Year

CASTLETON — (Special) — The Castleton College Spartans have been named New England State College Athletic Conference baseball champions.

The Spartans, guided by Coach Paul Lepley, finished play May 23, suffering their first defeat in conference action at the hands of Johnson College, 8-4. The loss left their record at 8-1.

Castleton could do no worse than tie for conference honors but had to wait it out to see how Westfield College of Westfield, Mass., made out in its remaining games. Westfield ended up with a 7-1 conference mark as a rained-out game with Lyndon College cost a chance for co-championship laurels.

Castleton opened and closed its sport season on a successful note. It took NESCAC soccer championship honors last fall, to go along with a baseball crown.

The championships were the first two in the school's history since it joined the NESCAC in 1953.

The Spartans were paced by Johnny Barth, Fran Zakrzewski and Bob Parro on the mound while Skip Pietryka, John Notte, Lee Orvis, Buddy Ward and Charlie Neal were hitting stalwarts.

Barth was 4-1 on the season while Zakrzewski was 4-0. Parro carried a 2-2 record and came up with some fine relief appearances.

Pietryka led the club in just about every hitting department as he batted .421, hit seven doubles, three triples, two home runs and knocked in 16 RBIs. Notte followed with a .340 mark with eight RBIs. Neal came next with .310 and 12 RBIs. Ward hit .296 and Orvis batted .289, also collecting 14 RBIs.

Spartans 26, VATI 0

C.T.C. opened its 1962 baseball season with VATI. John Barth, Tom Burke and Bucky Knisley combined their pitching talents to shut out and no-hit VATI 26 to 0, in the Spartans' opener.

Ralph Simpson, John Notte and Charlie Neal provided the hitting power for the Spartans.

(Continued on Page 3)

A Look To The Future

Paul Netty, a materialist with a great wealth, has said, "The concept that any status quo is perfect and permanent, that one must under no circumstance raise questions, voice doubts, or seek improvements can only produce complacency then stagnation and finally collapse. Very often it remains for the dissenter to point out that which is wrong. He is a skeptic who doubts, questions and probes—and hence is more likely to recognize lacks, weaknesses and abuses than are his complacent neighbors. The dissenter is often more alert and becomes a prophet who cries for action while there is still time to take action."

Let every man stand on his own doctrine (the newspaper especially.) Let us hope The Spartan blasts the Dante out of complacency and begins to probe, question and tear down the barriers that segregate this college. Truth cannot be destroyed or tarnished. That which is good The Spartan will praise, that which is false The Spartan will publicize, and that which is not understood The Spartan will try to clarify.

MAIL BOX

STUDENT COURT — ITS EFFICACY

Dear Editor:

Does the Student Court have justification for existing at Castleton State College? I have heard this question raised many times by different students around the college, and most of their opinions are similar. To me and many others the answer is "No."

The Student Handbook describes Student Court as a student body set up to hear and judge cases of minor offenses committed by students. This body has gone to a great deal of trouble to plaster signs all over the college regarding Student Court offenses and their punishment. Yet, not once this year has this organization of justice been called to act upon a case.

Certainly most of the students have violated such warnings as, "It is a Student Court offense to smoke in lunch line" or "Cutting in lunch line is a Student Court offense." But where are the instigators of these ridiculous rules? Undoubtedly, they are also indulging in these "illegal" pastimes.

What does all of this prove? It would seem to indicate that the Student Court's bark is worse than its bite. At best this organization is an ineffective "scare" machine. Certainly it is hard to justify the existence of a court which blazons its rules, sees them disregarded, and holds no briefs.

Jack Griffin

JOKERS ARE WILD

Dear Editor:

Who is responsible for the activities that have been going on at school lately? Namely rolling cars from Ellis Hall parking lot to the softball field, much to the dismay of Mrs. Cassin and the local state police, turning beds over and disrupting rooms at Fabian's, Morrill and Haapala Houses, removing card files and placing couches on top of each other at Ellis, and last but not least moving cars from their accustomed parking places.

Is this their method of adding some spice to what they believe is a dull campus life?

Gary Payne

SPARTAN BOARD

Editor.....	Bill Foley
Assistant Editor.....	Ernie Meuser
Layout Editor.....	Maryanne Hunter
Assistant Layout Editor.....	Dick Singleton
Exchange Editor.....	Frank Heald
Circulation Editor.....	Steve Dow
Photography.....	Norm Bartlett
Art.....	Patti Keedy
Reporters.....	Paula Ames, Dick Burke, Pat Steeves, Ronald Butterfield,
Art DeLorenzo, Helene Sihler, Mike Foley, Mary Lou Gallagher, Kuno Olson
Sports.....	Leon Orvis, Mark Mooney
Polls.....	Pat Steeves
Typists.....	Helene Sihler, Phyllis Erskine
Advisor.....	Miss Elizabeth Hale

SCHOOL SPIRIT

Dear Editor:

What has happened to the spirit that the Castleton students have had? Has everyone come down with "spring fever?" In our four years at Castleton, we have never seen such poor student interest.

Throughout the year the Student Association and various organizations have tried to interest the students by putting on various weekends, dances and entertainments. But the students will not attend them, they would rather go elsewhere and we don't have to name the elsewhere, everyone knows where.

People come up to us and complain about what is going on, on campus and off, we ask these same people, and others, to do something to change this picture and they will refuse because it may interfere with their "social" life. What kind of college spirit is this? How can any kind of college spirit develop in such an atmosphere. A good example of what we mean is this year's yearbook. Everyone wanted a good yearbook but no one would work on the staff so what are the results?—a poor yearbook.

We all came to Castleton to get an education. We are also expected to support the Student Association for that is as much a part of our education as our academic work. The only way any club, organization or undertaking at Castleton can become worthwhile is by student support and effort. When are the students going to realize this? We hope it will be pretty darn soon.

We personally hope that next year's S. A. President will be able to say the opposite of the above. REMEMBER, Castleton State College is only as good as the students make it. Next year we hope that it will be an outstanding place with the full support of the student body.

Alexander J. Blastos
S. A. President

THE DRINKING PROBLEM

Dear Editor:

As we all know, there is a great deal of drinking going on both on and off campus. This has become a serious problem. On occasion it has led to violence.

This is just one of the problems. Others, and of more importance to this institution, are the effects on a students' scholastic standing and on the reputation of the college.

In cases where the students drink throughout the week, their scholastic standing is inevitably hurt. True, many confine their indulgence to the weekends when studies are completed, but a minority are the ones who ruin it for the rest. Not many of this minority are so scholastically capable that they can afford to sacrifice this time from their studies.

My belief is that a student attends college to obtain a furthering of his education, and drinking to excess is definitely not the way to do this.

A favorite definition of college is: "A fountain of learning to which one goes to drink." This is true in two ways. First the original meaning is that a person enters college to digest the knowledge and wisdom of the professors. The second meaning takes the cited definition as a pun.

A student should be proud of the college he attends. He should do everything in his power to uphold its name and reputation. By excessive drinking and misbehavior in public, he not only affects himself but the college as well.

It seems unfair that because of the minority who go to extremes everyone should be penalized, even to the extent of Vermont, Massachusetts, and Connecticut requesting New York to change its age-for-drinking law.

Havilan Tweedy
March 13, 1962

The Spartan - Voice Of The Students

Next school year the paper will attempt to publish fifteen issues or a print every two weeks. We shall try to keep the college community well informed, provided the college leaders keep us informed of their activities.

We would also like to hear from the readers in the form of "Letters to the Editor." The Spartan will be the voice of the students, only if they speak up. All letters should be addressed to The Spartan editor. They should be written in ink and signed by the writer, although signatures will be withheld from printing at the writer's request.

The Editorial Page of this issue illustrates the variety of opinion circulating on the campus at the moment.

I like me

Thus spoke Zarathustra

Porky

HEY WE GOT.....

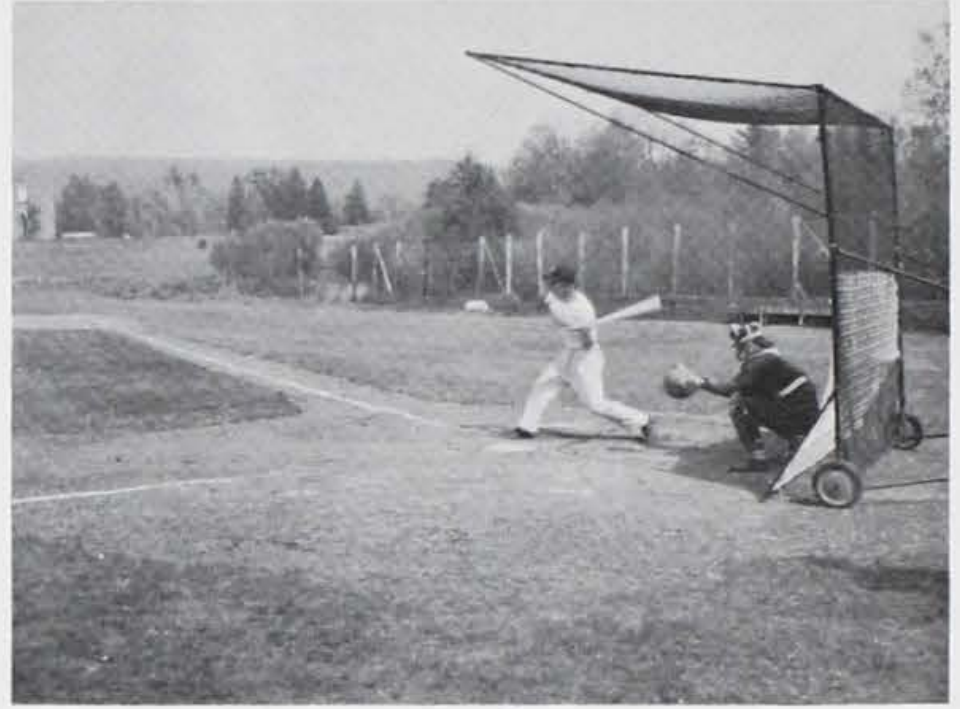

H₂O buffalo in orbit

The baseball twist

To improve the view across the drive.

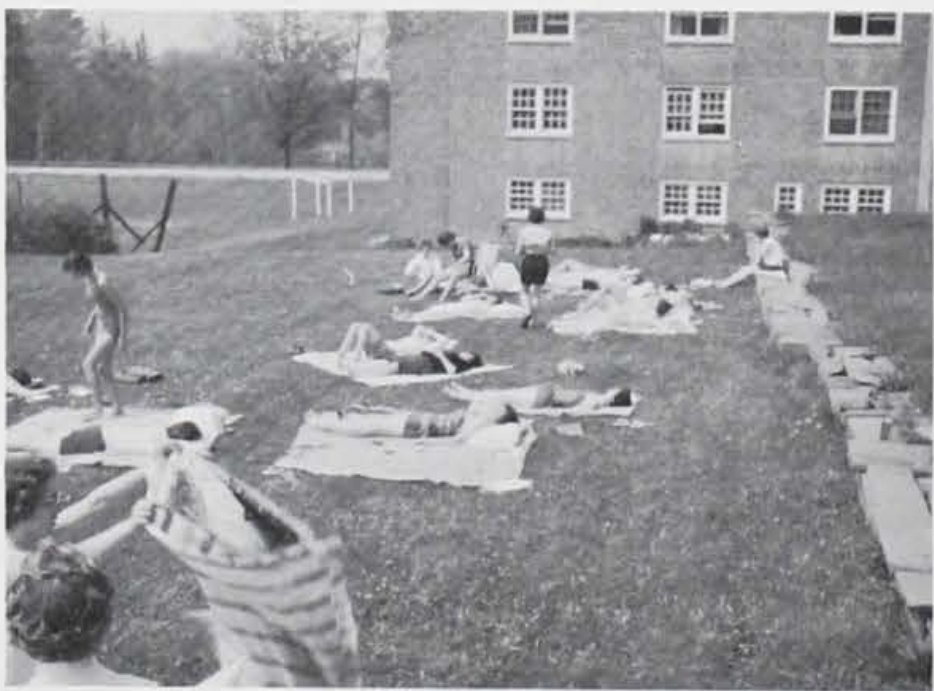

Eye Tee

Cops...my strap broke

EAST?

Splendor in the Grass

Campus at Fredetteville Tech.

An Evening With Dorothy Parker

The Castleton Players closed their season of activities Thursday night, May 24, with a series of amusing dramatic dialogues and monologues selected from the humorous works of Dorothy Parker. Mr. Saul Elkin adapted the readings for the stage and directed the following cast in their performances:

"You Were Perfectly Fine"—Frank Heald and Pat Steeves.

"The Newlyweds"—Roger Clarino and Leslie Bliden.

"The Sexes"—Norm Bartlett and Mary Lou Gallagher.

"The Last Tea"—Bob Undeen and Viola Roberts.

"The Telephone Call"—Sally Briscoe.

"The Waltz"—Pat Steeves.

"Just a Little One"—Louise Hurley.

"Study in Black and White"—Pam Hayes.

Around The Campus

It seems that John Boyd, Jack Griffin and Tony Garmella had a contest to see who could hitch-hike the farthest distance. Word has it, they went as far as Ohio.

Belated congratulations to Leslie Bliden on her superb performance as MOC for the Talent Show in April. There seemed to be a little confusion, but the cast enjoyed putting on the show and it seems the audience was "stunned" at the hidden talent around the Campus.

SHOWERS

The second-floor lounge of Ellis Hall has been the scene lately of several bridal showers for summer brides. Among those honored were Bobbi Dolan, Patti Keedy, Sylvia Johnson, Phyllis Erskine and Jean Senecal. Congratulations, girls!

Mrs. Ransom Retires

Mrs. Ethel Ransom will retire as head of the dishwashing service at the College at the close of the current year. During the past eleven years she has lent a willing hand to many of the college activities in this capacity. Our thanks and best wishes go with her.

60 Accept Positions For Fall Of 1962

Sixty members of the Class of 1962 have accepted positions for September.

Ames, Paula—Queensbury, N. Y.

Barry, Judith—Bennington, Vt.

Bigelow, Carolyn—Fair Haven, Vt. (sub)

Blastos, Alex—Rutland, Vt.

Booth, Marlene—Williston, Vt.

Bountress, William—South Windsor, Conn.

Brazier, Paul—Glasco, N. Y.

Burke, Sally—South Burlington, Vt.

Bush, Robert—Schuylerville, N. Y.

Carrara, Samuel—Proctorsville, Vt.

Clough, Arthur—Chester, Vt.

Daniels, Marilyn—Townshend, Vt.

Dolan, Barbara—Springfield, Vt.

Duchane, Barbara—Rutland, Vt.

Ezzo, Samuel—Bridgewater, Vt.

Farnham, Stuart—Rochester, Vt.

Fish, Byron—Chester, Vt.

Fisk, Marie—Townshend, Vt.

Fortier, Andrea—Newport, Vt.

Gaffney, Catherine—Woodstock, Vt.

Garrick, Ethel Hadaway—Manchester, Vt.

Gates, Catherine Johnson—Tinnmouth, Vt.

Gee, Joe—Bennington, Vt.

Goodell, Don—Rutland, Vt.

Harrington, Theodora—Rupert, Vt.

Hatfield, Ann—Guilford, Vt.

Hawkins, Gilbert—Grafton, Vt.

Hayden, Ella—Tinnmouth, Vt.

Hoffeld, Bonnie—New Castle, Del.

Johnson, Marilyn—Guilford, Vt.

Kearns, Judith—Queensbury, N. Y.

Lentini, Gerard—Dorset, Vt.

Mackay, Carol—Colchester, Vt.

Madigan, Mary J.—Norwich, Vt.

Maslack, Letitia—Thompsonville, Conn.

Mastrovich, Steven—Hudson Falls, N. Y.

McNamara, Richard—Poultney, Vt.

Millard, Joy Rowe—Dorset, Vt.

Olson, Kuno—Chester, Vt.

Orvis, Donald—Rutland, Vt.

Picchi, Patricia—Foxboro, Mass.

Poole, Sheila—Springfield, Vt.

Powers, Alice—Hartford, N. Y.

Ranney, Patricia—Newfane, Vt.

Ranney, Thomas—Arlington, Vt.

Robinson, Christina—Hudson Falls, N. Y.

Ruby, Helena—Bennington, Vt.

Ryan, Mary—Williston, Vt.

Smiel, John—Shaftsbury, Vt.

Smyrski, Richard—Cavendish, Vt.

Smith, Jan P.—Pownal Center, Vt.

Terrio, Leo—Fort Edward, N. Y.

Thurston, Kathryn—Springfield, Vt.

Tuller, Stanley—Sharon, Vt.

White, Maedean—Bennington, Vt.

Walker, Janet K.—Montpelier, Vt.

Williams, Jane—Burlington, Vt.

Williams, Vera—Proctorsville, Vt.

Worden, Virginia—West Brattleboro, Vt.

Wu, John K.—Springfield, Vt.

Spartans Baseball Champs

(Continued from Page 1)

W.P.—Barth (1-0); L.P.—Monds (0-1)

Plattsburg 12, Spartans 10

Plattsburg handed the Spartans their first loss of the young season. The Spartans holding a 10 to 1 lead, bowed to a fine hitting Plattsburg team 12 to 10.

John Notte, Ralph Simpson and Bob Ward led the Spartans' hitting attack.

W.P.—Waite (1-0); L.P.—Parro (0-1)

Spartans 7, Fitchburg 5

After a shaky start, John Barth came on strong to win an impressive 7 to 5 victory over Fitchburg.

Billy Wood, Charlie Memoe and once again, Ralph Simpson provided the hitting power for the Spartans.

W.P.—Barth (2-0); L.P.—Shea (0-1)

Spartans 2, Lyndon 0

Frank Zakrzewski shut out Lyndon giving up only three hits, while striking out seven. Skip Pietryka, Lee Orvis and Charlie Neal got the only three hits off losing pitcher Doug Murray, in the Spartans' most impressive wins.

W.P.—Zakrzewski (1-0); L.P.—Murray (0-1)

Spartans 17, North Adams 5

Strong hitting by the Spartans and weak fielding by North Adams proved to be the factors in the Spartans' fourth win.

Charlie Memoe, Skip Pietryka, Bob Ward and John Barth provided the hitting power for the Spartans, while the North Adams ball club made seven errors.

John Barth pitched his third straight victory without a loss.

W.P.—Barth (3-0); L.P.—Meany (0-1)

Spartans 16, Oneonta 7

Bob Parro won his first game of the young season defeating Oneonta 16-7.

Bill Wood, Charlie Memoe, Skip Pietryka, Charlie Neal and Pitcher Bob Parro, were the outstanding hitters as Castleton won its fifth game of the season.

W.P.—Parro (1-1); L.P.—Esterbrook (1-2)

Castleton 7, Gorham 1

John Barth allowed one run to Gorham batmen; Barth pitched one of his best games of the season for his fourth win of the season giving up only four hits.

Outstanding hitters for Castleton were, John Notte, Charlie Neal, and Bob Ward.

W.P.—Barth (4-0); L.P.—Lash (0-3)

Castleton 1, Farmington 0

Frank Zakrzewski pitched a shutout over Farmington 1 to 0, giving up four hits. Frank Zakrzewski has now pitched eighteen consecutive scoreless innings.

Outstanding hitting came off the bats of Skip Pietryka, John Notte, Lee Orvis and Charlie Neal.

W.P.—Zakrzewski (2-0); L.P.—Linton (0-1)

Castleton 5, Plattsburg 2

Castleton took revenge against Plattsburg which was the only team to defeat them.

Bob Parro pitched Castleton to its seventh win of the season. Parro now three and one, was very impressive scattering nine hits over the game.

Bob Ward and Bob Parro had two hits apiece to lead Castleton's attack.

W.P.—Parro (2-1); L.P.—Waite (1-1)

Spartans 5, Johnson 2

Castleton out-lasted a strong Johnson team behind the pitching of Frank Zakrzewski. Frank now has an impressive 3-0 record.

The strong hitting from Charlie Memoe, Skip Pietryka and Lee Orvis. At this point the Spartans held a 6-0 record in the conference.

W.P.—Zakrzewski (3-0); L.P.—Hakey (2-1)

Castleton 5, North Adams 4

The Spartans defeated a North Adams team with fine relief work from Bob Parro. John Barth started the game and pitched good ball for eight innings, but then tired out in the ninth.

Bill Wood and John Notte lead the Spartans' hitting attack.

W.P.—Barth (5-0); L.P.—O'Brien (0-1)

Spartans 8, Lyndon 5

For the second time the Spartans beat Lyndon with the strong pitching of Frank Zakrzewski. The Spartan hitting attack was led by Charlie Memoe, Skip Pietryka, Lee Orvis, Bob Ward, Ralph Simpson, and Frank Zakrzewski. The Spartans collected 11 hits.

W.P.—Zakrzewski (4-0); L.P.—Murray (4-2)

Johnson 8, Spartans 4

Johnson got revenge against the Spartans, and handed them their first conference loss.

Behind the strong hitting of Geruais, Gibson, and Miscues of Castleton, Johnson won an easy victory.

W.P.—Falazeno; L.P.—Barth (5-1)

An Aquatic Excursion

by Helene Sihler

It was a balmy summer evening in Florida. Laura was hot and tired after a long day at the office. She thought it would be refreshing to go for a swim in the pool at her friend's house. Since she was very fond of her young nephew, Jon, Laura decided to drive over to her sister's house and see if she could take him with her.

The humidity was high and the cool breeze during the drive gave Laura a refreshed feeling.

Bounding in the door, Laura called a cheery hello to her sister, Sally, who was putting the younger baby to bed.

"May I take Jon swimming with me?", asked Laura.

Sally gave her permission to take little Jon to the pool, but warned Laura to watch him very carefully.

"Don't bother to come back if anything happens to him," said Sally in a grave tone.

Laura and Jon hurried out the door with bathing suits, towels and water toys for Jon.

"I'll be careful," shouted back Laura on her way to the car.

Jon stood on the front seat next to Laura and babbled words that made sense just to the two of them. At least Laura understood that cackerbire meant firecracker and could catch at the meaning of other undistinguishable words that two-year-olds use.

They arrived at the pool in a short time and prepared for a cool dip in the chlorine-blue pool.

Laura put Jon in an inner tube and pushed him around at the shallow end of the pool. Seeing the flood-light under water at the opposite end of the pool, Jon expressed a desire to see it closer, so Laura paddled him down to the deep end of the pool.

After inspection of the light, Jon was content to go back to the shallow part of the pool, as water can be a frightening thing to young children.

After awhile Jon got up the courage to jump off the side of the pool into the water and let Laura catch him, but he soon tired of this also.

Laura asked her hostess to watch Jon while she dove in and swam around for awhile as she had been restricted from much activity by amusing Jon in the water.

Assuming that Jon was being carefully watched, Laura dove into the pool. As she came up out of the water, she saw Jon standing on the edge of the pool. Although she was sure he would not jump in, Laura added a command of, "No, Jon!" This had no effect, however, and Jon did an imitation of his aunt by diving into the pool.

Laura panicked. She didn't know what to do. After what seemed like a lifetime, Laura went under, grabbed

Coaches Name John Barth Outstanding Athlete Of Year

Castleton State College Coaches Dick Terry and Paul Lepley presented Windsor's John Barth with the Coaches Trophy for Outstanding Achievement in Athletics at the annual CSC sports banquet.

About 300 diners applauded the presentation, which highlighted the evening's athletic awards. Guest speaker was Herald Sports Editor Bill Winters, whose topic was "Education in Athletics."

Barth has won six letters in the past two years. The lanky senior-to-be set a college record in soccer, scoring 15 goals as CSC swept the New England State College Athletic Conference.

He led the Spartan basketball team in scoring and compiled a 4-1 pitching record this spring as his squad took top honors in the conference once again.

Barth won the CSC white letter for soccer, as the most valuable player on the championship team. He was a co-captain on the basketball team.

Other letter winners were:

Varsity basketball—Dick Potter of South Glens Falls, N. Y. (white letter), co-capt. Frank Zakrzewski of West Rutland, Stan Pietryka of West Rutland, Bob Parro of Burlington, Jim Yarter of Glens Falls, Barry Aldinger of Jericho and Dan Hudson of Plainfield, Kuno Olsen of Barre and Byron Fish of Hydeville were managers.

JV basketball—Ray Mariani of Brattleboro, Chuck Memoe of Burlington, Jim Burgess of Rutland, Art DeLorenzo of Burlington, Marty Fitzgerald of Burlington, Roger Woodruff of Poultney, Alan Cristie of Barre, Chuck Neal of Woodstock, Alan Noyes of Burlington, Dale Spooner of Woodstock and manager Jerry Hall of Woodstock.

Varsity soccer—Co-capt. Stan Pietryka of West Rutland, co-capt. Sam Carrara of Pittsford, Don Orvis of Proctor, Bill Bountress of Berlin, Conn., Chuck Memoe of Burlington, Gunnars Vilinskis of Hudson, N. Y., Pete Messina of Elmont, N. Y., John Witalec of Ludlow, Cal Hastings of Rutland, Dick Bird of Brandon, Bob Knisley of Chester, Art DeLorenzo of Burlington, Mark Mooney of Pittsford, Al Blastos of Keene, N. H., John Brooks of Crown Point, N. Y., and manager Don Goodell of Chester.

Varsity baseball—Frank Zakrzewski of West Rutland (white letter), capt. Stan Pietryka of West Rutland, Lee Orvis of Proctor, Don Orvis of Proctor, Bob Parro of Burlington, Chuck Memoe of Burlington, Wilbur Wood of Fair Haven, Bob Ward of Ft. Edward, N. Y., Ralph Simpson of Mineville, N. Y., Mark Mooney of Pittsford, Chuck Neal of Woodstock, John Notte of Rutland and manager Dick Singleton of South Glens Falls, N. Y.

Intramural Softball

Intramural softball is in its fourth week with but one week remaining on the schedule. The league has progressed at such a rapid rate that a "Commencement Tournament" has been planned. The following is the proposed schedule with the first game commencing at 9:30 a.m., Saturday, May 26.

At 9:30 Payne vs. Stack

At 11:30 Hayden vs. Shaw and at 2:30 the winners of the first two games will meet for the championship. At the time of this publication, Dick Hayden's team was the league's leader with Payne's, Stack's and Shaw's teams following respectively.

Jon and pulled him up to the surface. Luckily he had closed his mouth and had not taken in any water. In fact, he was quite pleased with himself and his comment was, "Do it again, Auntie Laura!"

Somehow Laura lost the desire to swim and decided to take Jon home immediately.

Sally to be sure never heard about the near tragedy, and Laura, thereafter, always went swimming alone.

Shipwreck Weekend

The Varsity Club presented the Shipwreck Weekend on June 2 at the state park, Lake Bomoseen. Various activities included softball, trampoline, swimming, a dinner at 5 o'clock and a dance in the evening concluded the activities. The site for the dance was the Bomoseen Grange. Buses were provided for transportation to the state park.

SHIPWRECK WEEKEND

Chairman

Bob Ward

Clean Up

Chairman—Skip Pietryka

Helpers—Dick Singleton

Jim Brooks

Pete Messina

John Barth

Kuno Olson

Refreshments and Food

Cheerleaders—Pat Steeves

Mary Lou Gallagher

Marie Goodwin

Louise Lull

Louise Hurley

Sandy Davenport

Southern Trip For '63 Baseball Squad

Castleton State College will be accomplishing another first next year in its athletic program by initiating a southern trip next spring for its baseball squad, during spring vacation, prior to opening its regular schedule.

The tour will take the team into Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia.

Institutions which will be included on the schedule are Delaware State College, University of Delaware, Loyola College of Baltimore, Howard University, Washington and Lee University and Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

The trip will condition the team for the regular season in addition to giving the boys a high calibre opposition, the athletic officials said.

Fantasy Or Reality?

On this planet there are light waves which are beyond our eyes' range much the same as there are sounds beyond our ears' range. What would happen if there were animals which were composed of these unperceivable colors? The following story describes one incident which could possibly occur.

There had been some reports of a strange animal killing some of the farmers in the hills of central Vermont. We were hired by a federal agency to investigate.

Our party went into the hills and combed them almost completely. On our fifth day in these hills one of the men began to scream as if he were in great pain, and at the same time gouges and rips appeared on his body as if an animal was clawing him. It was a tragic way to find the creature, but at least we now knew what we were up against. The creature attacked again and again until only I was left. At this point I decided it was time to get out since I could not fight this invisible beast. As I ran I turned to see the bushes parting behind me; it was now on my trail. I fire again and again in the general direction of the creature; on my last shell I hit it. There was a distinctive scream which no other animal could have made, followed by a thud. I walked to where the tall grass was matted down and felt for this thing. I found it, and painted it with a can which had been supplied to me for just such a purpose. I painted its head, it was enormous and almost human like. I was just becoming interested when I noticed that it had a look of youth about it.

Then I heard it, the same noise which this dead creature had made, coming towards me, almost sounding like a mother, calling for its young.

Donald Martin